Family

Family – is usually the first and most important socialization that one will encounter most times for a start in life.

School

School is an extremely great socialization method, because you get to learn some things in school that teaches you how to socialize and get along with others, and learn to accept the differences of others

Media

Media has a great effect on organization because Media informs, guides, and entertain your decisions whether right or wrong

Peer groups

Peer groups have a very strong effect as a socialization method, sometimes it takes a lot for people to make up their own minds about something, so people watch each other, and whatever is most popular is what is most likely done, especially politically. Legally, peer groups are more likely to watch from a distance, and not have the copycat syndrome

Workplace

The workplace as a socialization method that really thrives on how we see things politically and legally. Politically it varies in many different age ranges, culturally, racially, and gender wise. But legally, most are on the same page because the law is the law whether we like it or not.

Religion

Religion in the workplace is not a socialization method. In the workplace too many people feel that religion if someone is allowed to express their faith in the workplace/organization, then it is being

Deviance

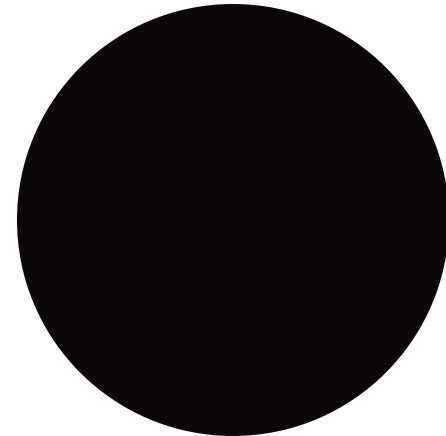

Personal

Deviance has several functions:

- (a) It clarifies norms and increases conformity
- (b) It strengthens social bonds among the people reacting to the deviance
- (c) It can help lead to physical characteristics of urban neighborhoods and contribute to high crime rates

Workplace

- Workplace deviance may be expressed in various ways
- Employees can engage in minor, extreme, non-violent or violent behavior, which ultimately leads to an organizations decline in productivity

Social Inequalities

- When your piece of the pie is always bigger than mine, and for no obvious reason.
- When I am look upon as being of lesser value than my counterpart.
- When you feel or are made to look superior over me
- When I feel or are made to look inferior beneath you
- To combat social inequalities, we will at some point realize that we all are from the same fabric, and we aren't now nor will we ever be better than the next person regardless of the living status.

all animals are equal.
but some animals are more equal than others.

Conclusion

- I want my audience to walk away remembering that social change starts with each one of us. People have found ways to blame others for different things in life, but we are each one responsible for our own actions of how we choose to contribute or not to contribute to society in an individual or utilitarian type of way.
